

nexMatrix Adds Auto-Provisioning Support for VTech Hospitality Phones

nexMatrix resellers and installers can now quickly and easily provision the hospitality line of VTech phones using nexMatrix's auto-provisioning templates

Nampa, Idaho (5 i [i gh% 2017) nexMatrix Telecom, Inc. announced today the availability of full auto-provisioning support for the entire line of VTech® hospitality phone handsets. nexMatrix resellers and installers can now automatically provision and manage deployments of hotel and institutional phones through the administration interfaces of the nexMatrix Protel LTS and Protelity LTS premise and cloud PBX servers.

“We’re excited to partner with nexMatrix to bring more hospitality options to resellers and hotel customers,” said Ernie Levenson, president, VTech Communications, Inc. “VTech delivers a broad range of telecommunication products to address the vast needs of hospitality properties—from guest room phones to administrative SIP systems.”

According to Kevin McMahan, President & CEO of nexMatrix Telecom, the dominance of VTech in the hospitality market is a distinct advantage for nexMatrix customers. “The seamless integration of our PBX with the entire VTech product line, not only in hotel phones but also in enterprise and SMB deployments, gives our resellers some great options,” he said. “Plug-and-play provisioning makes deploying our premise or hosted solutions a snap, even with large numbers of extension users, and our long-standing relationship with VTech ensures that we will continue to offer best-in-class support and functionality to our customer base,” he added.

The Protel LTS Premise PBX can serve any size organization – from smaller home office-based companies to enterprise deployments, call centers, institutions, and hotels. nexMatrix also offers cloud and hosted PBX options that give resellers the ability to set end user price points and generate hefty recurring revenue without having to set up billing systems, and their business-class SIP trunking provides customers with reliable VoIP service with no limit for concurrent call sessions.

As the primary touchpoint between guests and hotel services, VTech hospitality phones provide a significant opportunity to make a positive impression. Being able to connect with the spa, front desk or room service should be an easy, pleasant experience. VTech phones include features that enhance the user experience, including handset speakerphones, convenient volume control, antibacterial plastic, battery backup and easy handset registration.

VTech can also deliver a broad range of SIP telecommunication products to address the vast needs of hospitality properties. The reliable line of ErisStation® conference phones help facilitate collaboration in hotel meeting spaces, while executive-level ErisTerminal® SIP desksets are ideal for management personnel looking for advanced calling features. Maintenance and housekeeping staff can benefit from the simplicity of basic VTech desksets and cordless handsets.

nexMatrix Telecom manufactures a complete line of Premise IP-PBX systems, called Protel LTS, delivering enterprise-grade features to businesses of any size with all-inclusive, enterprise-grade feature sets, and scalability from a few extensions to large-scale deployments. The same features and ease of programming are also present on Protelity LTS, their multi-tenant hosted PBX platform. nexMatrix sells its products and services exclusively through reseller partners and not through distributors or directly to end users.
